

In South Africa, Poachers Now Traffic in Tiny Succulent Plants

Police search the desert trying to track down the poachers selling Conophytums to collectors worldwide, threatening to wipe out rare plants in the wild.

By Tommy Trenchard

Published July 31, 2021 Updated Aug. 6, 2021

Subscribe to The Times to read (and print) as many articles as you'd like.

nytimes.com/subscription